

AMELIA

The North Central Florida Wing (NCFLW) is one of the most active AFSE wings. Led by Ken Jordan, the NCFLW is involved in many activities and projects. In 2007, NCFLW created a Angel Flight™ Southeast (AFSE) float for the Central Florida area. The wing, tirelessly worked on finding a location to begin working on the Piper Aztec which was saved from the salvage yard after suffering through Hurricane Katrina. Flying Colors, Inc agreed to give their time and expertise, for a nominal fee, to help paint the Piper Aztec and over a dozen volunteers diligently worked on getting the plane in ship shape. The Piper Aztec was named Amelia. She has made many appearances throughout Central Florida and has even traveled to Tallahassee, Tampa, and Miami to help spread the word about Angel Flight Southeast. Below are the photo's showing Amelia's transformation.
